ACTIVITIES

OVER FIRST WEEKEND...

Right: The students learn to communicate using more than their words as they search for new friends born in the same month or on the same day as themselves.

Right: More freshman pour through the Sykes Gates from Washington Boulevard. Above. During the playfair, students get to know each other in some of the most interesting and intimate ways including sitting on the lap of the person behind you.

LYCOMING WELCOMES ALL THE NEW STUDENTS.

The festivities begin with a hectic check-in on Friday and don't stop until students fall into bed on Sunday. The weekend is packed with activities designed to acquaint, engage, and educate. Ben Crever even makes a special appearance on Saturday to teach the young Warriors about the beginnings and founders of the college. However, first things first...the new students are welcomed in by the faculty, administration and staff during the Convocation Ceremony held Friday afternoon. Afterward are the goodbyes to families, some are tearful while others are in their final countdown. Later that evening, the students are introduced in some of the most interesting ways at the Playfair. The students' first Saturday is not the lazy day pictured in hopeful minds, as the ins and outs of the Snowden Library and the Career Development Center are explored, as well as a chat with the Freshman Dean on First Day Expectations. Sunday brings the last minute reassurances of the week to come and the return of the upperclassmen. The weekend ends in a campus-wide movie to share with new friends.

The Dining Room by A. R. Gurney

Directed by Frederic Wild
Scenic and Costume design by Jerry D. Allen
Lighting design by Luke Kruass

With Barry Schaub, Melissa Newman, Michael Flury, Christen Miner, Johua Markloff, Melody Weister, and Elizabeth Snow.

The Dining Room delves into the anthropological relationships of the "WASPs of the American Northeast" using the dining room as the centerpiece for the study. In the space of ninety minutes six actors portray fifty-seven characters in seventeen different beautifully blended scenes. The characters range from excited five year-olds at a birthday party (right middle) to stern parents (right top) to the working class (right bottom) and to those dealing with the effects of dementia. The play is satirical, poignant, provocative and all the while enjoyable.

The Maids explores the relationship between an upper-class woman, Madame (Jessica Hulslander) and her two maids, Claire (guest artist Page Clements) and Solange (guest artist Mary Ethel Schmidt). The maids dream of leaving the shackles of servitude by killing their mistress, acting out fantasies in which they rise above their positions in life. The play journeys in and out of these fantasies until the point of no return, combining mystery and murder with the story of outcasts making a futile effort to reach the world of acceptance and belonging.

THE HINT

For the opening band of Lycoming's Spring Concert, The Hint was simply amazing. The rising band played an energizing thirty minute set to the eager audience. The boys of The Hint took time after the concert to attend to their fans. For as long as the last fan waited, The Hint stayed with them. Even the Arrow's concert staff managed to snag a few minutes with the band. Top: from the left are Arrow's Amanda Striley, Jeff Hurn, Joe Jayson, Sarah Zellars, Geoffrey Blake, Tim Foltyn, and Event Staff Elyse Johnson.

TAKING BACK SUNDAY invades Lycoming's Campus

On August 12 Lycoming College's Rec Center was the hub of activity as the day was spent in preparation for the evening's entertainment. The headliners of the evening was Taking Back Sunday, a band in the youth of its own success. They opened the night with their hugely popular "Liar (It Takes One to Know One)" and kept the sound coming after that. The concert, sponsored by Student Senate and organized by the Campus Activities Board was in attendance by almost 1,800 people that evening.

Relay for Life

Each year, Lyco students walk to help save lives in the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life. The students know the event is about so much more than just walking on a track. While they are walking they are honoring cancer victims, celebrating survivors, and each dollar they raise while walking is giving hope to the millions diagnosed. All of Lycoming's participating organizations gathered overnight to achieve their goal of maintaining at least one member on the track at all times. Below the track, those not walking held a variety of activities to raise even more funds for the American Cancer Society.

GREEK LIFE

For one week of the year, Lycoming's Greek Houses hold a friendly Inter-House Competition. Each house competes for the bragging rights until next year's Greek Week events are held, and the titles are defended. At the end of the week the houses gather in front of East Hall for the celebration's end a Banner Revealing ceremony, to which each house has donated an original banner.

Alpha Rho Omega

Under the executive leadership of Rose DiRocco (advisor), Natalie Palm (president), Kara Hahn (vice-president), Sabreina Slaughter (treasurer), Averee Cook, and Amanda Braxton the ladies of Alpha Rho Omega have flourished on Lycoming's campus. When compared as a local sorority to the other national branches, the girls say they wouldn't have it any other way. Kara Hahn says "the best part is probably that we are completely unique to any other organization because we are local. We run the sisterhood completely ourselves-no help from nationals, it is just us and our constitution".

The ladies of Alpha Rho hold their own in the field of community service. Each year they run Adopt-A-Highway and Quarter Mile of Quarters, which is a scholarship fund for a local high school in memory of one of their alumna's brothers. They also participate in Relay for Life, MS Walk, and AIDS Walk and help with holiday parties at the Children's Discovery Workshop. This past year they sponsored a self-defense workshop and brought in a massage therapist. When asked what the best part of the sorority is, the girls unanimously responded with the close bonds of friendship and learning from one another. JoyLynn Scott says the best part for her is the everlasting support from her sisters of Alpha Rho, no matter what anyone else is thinking.

Alpha Sigma Tau

The ladies of Alpha Sigma Tau are not shy to the effects of community service. They join the Greek community of Lycoming College in being in the fore-running of many service activities each semester. In the fall they constructed inspirational cards for the boys overseas. Alpha Sigma Tau is one of Lycoming's nationally backed sororities. In July some of the ladies visited Mickey Mouse while attending a conference for the national branch of Alpha Sigma Tau.

Friend of Xi or not...

Alpha Xi Delta's are always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

The ladies of Alpha Xi Delta are proud to say with 59 active members they are currently the newest and largest sorority on Lycoming's campus. Their mission is to stay active and involved on campus academically and through community service. Their biggest goal is to raise money for charities and work with children. As a group, the sisters of Alpha Xi Delta put in numerous community service hours towards programs like the Monster Mash, which is a Halloween gathering for children in the community, Volley for a Cure, Relay for Life, MS Walk, AIDS Walk and their Kickball Tournament, which raised money for the Children's Discovery Workshop.

Members of Alpha Xi Delta call this sorority their "family away from home" because each lady is there for her sisters when they are in need of support. Senior Amanda Scholwinski says, "You are encouraged to bring your own unique identity to the group. You get to know girls who are very different from you and you learn from one another. Having the chance to add a little something to yourself or give a little something to someone else is a great feeling. And when you do learn something you can say, 'I learned that from my sisters'".

All in all, Alpha Xi Delta is a group on campus that is there for everyone including each other. They are individuals with character and unique abilities; each one brings something new to the organization and to the campus. Whether the member is a freshman or a senior, Alpha Xi Delta inspires the journey of growth, love, and hope.

"The best part [of Alpha Xi Delta] is the bond with my sisters. When I came in, I only knew a few of them, but leaving, it really is like a family. We've had so many good times together and TONS of memories that will last a lifetime! When I look back at college, the one thing that will always put a smile on my face is Alpha Xi Delta!"

The purpose of Lycoming's chapter of Beta Phi Gamma is to provide service and support to the college and community and to establish sisterhood and fellowship for personal enrichment. Ashley Peters describes the experience by saying, "through service, activities, and socials, I have met so many people on campus that I never would have if I weren't Greek; it's a great social device". This year the ladies of Beta Phi Gamma ran service projects through Steven's Elementary School, as well as held activities for the Alumni 30 year Anniversary, and Family Weekend. Brianna Durbin describes the sorority as her family away from home. Soraya Thompson agrees saying, "It's who I am".

Gamma Delta Sigma

Gamma Delta Sigma is the second oldest house on campus with thirty-seven active members and fourteen new members. Because they are a local sorority the ladies govern themselves by writing and upholding their own constitution. They have been living on the same floor in East Hall since the late 70's and are looking forward to next year at Homecoming which will be their 30 anniversary celebration. Each year the ladies of Gamma Delta Sigma hold the Brandy Sudol Auction to fund for a scholarship awarded at the end of the year. They also run Volley for a Cure to help in breast cancer research, participate in Adopt-A-Highway, Relay for Life, and Operation Christmas Tree. Some of the best memories of the year include two of their sisters getting married, one who was an alum and the other an active sister. Also, one of their sisters became engaged. Most of all they have been working hard and now look forward to their next 30 years.

"We are a small chapter that does many great things."

Phi Kappa Psi is a relatively new chapter on Lycoming's Campus. Chartered just three years ago on March 20, 2004 the brothers of Phi Kappa Psi have had to work especially hard at building their fraternity as well as participating in the college community alongside the rest of Lyco's Greeks. So far, the brothers have earned a national award for community service. This looks like a great way to start off an active chapter! Last year Phi Kappa Psi participated in the Relay for Life for the American Cancer Society and the AIDS Walk, as well performing odd jobs for citizens in the local community. Their favorite activity last year was during rush when the guys got to relax for a couple of hours and bowl with some potential recruits. One of their members bowled over 200!

2007 LYCOMING CHIEFTAN

JESSICA E. GOUGH

LYCOMING COLLEGE. It is amazing how those two words have grown to mean so much to many of us.

Entering Lycoming as a freshman, we were full of anxiety, doubts, and fears. We were uncertain about what we would major in or how exactly we were going to fit everything we owned into one dorm room. Leaving behind high school friends and family and entering the unfamiliar territory, known as college, was the challenge that lie ahead of us.

During our first few weeks at Lycoming, we made new friends, many of whom are still our friends today. We discovered that roommates were not so bad and neither were community showers. Suddenly, we realized that Lycoming had become our home away from home.

Throughout our college careers, we learned what the Lycoming experience was all about. Lycoming's professors were not only there to give us the knowledge necessary for us to be successful individuals. Whether it was a theatre performance, an athletic competition, or a community service event, Lycoming's faculty and staff was there to support us. We were more than just students to them, we were individuals that they wanted to see prosper and grow.

We also learned that someone was always there to help us. At times it was our roommate who made us get out of bed when we didn't want to. Other times, it was our coach who gave us individual attention if we were having a bad practice, or our professor who helped us answer that question we didn't understand.

Leaving Lycoming means facing new challenges much like the ones we felt when arriving at Lycoming. However, now we are ready. Lycoming has given us the confidence to believe in ourselves and the knowledge to achieve our goals.

My advice to you is to make the best of your time here at Lycoming. However, when it is time for you to enter the real world, do so "Lyco style". Say "Hi" to strangers as you walk by them, just like you would if you saw them on the quad. Don't forget your friends. Increase the amount of minutes you have on your cell phone plan, because those friends that are near and dear to your heart are now going to be further than a walk across campus away. Most of all, don't forget who you are and what you can accomplish. We have all achieved success here at Lycoming and I know we will have continued success in the future. I leave you with a quote by Ralph Waldo Emerson. Good luck to you all!!

"To laugh often and much;
to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children;
to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends;
to appreciate beauty,
to find the best in others;
to leave the world a bit better,
whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.
This is to have succeeded."

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

On May 5, anxious graduates, proud families, and devoted faculty and staff gathered to bless the impending Commencement Ceremony. Sister Catherine Anne Gilvary started the ceremony off with the Invocation. The Choir joined their heavenly voices with the glorious sounds of the Band to further celebrate the occasion. Members of the Class of 2007 added to the ceremony by performing the reading of the Lessons.

RS

The Sermon was delivered by Reverend Dr. David McAllister-Wilson, President of Wesley Theological Seminary. He spoke to the Class of 2007 about their generation and what will define them. He presented to the graduates three hats, along with three sayings to prepare them for their journey ahead. The laurel was used to signify "Prepare for Glory" for there will be great times ahead for the graduates. "Welcome to the Real World" was portrayed with a mortar. The last piece of advice was "Follow Me" as the reverend wielded a crown of thorns.

PASSING THE LIGHT OF LEARNING

"This lamp is a symbol of the Light of Learning. It represents the spirit of education and the tradition of knowledge passed from one generation to another."

--Arthur Harberberger, Chairman, Board of Trustees--

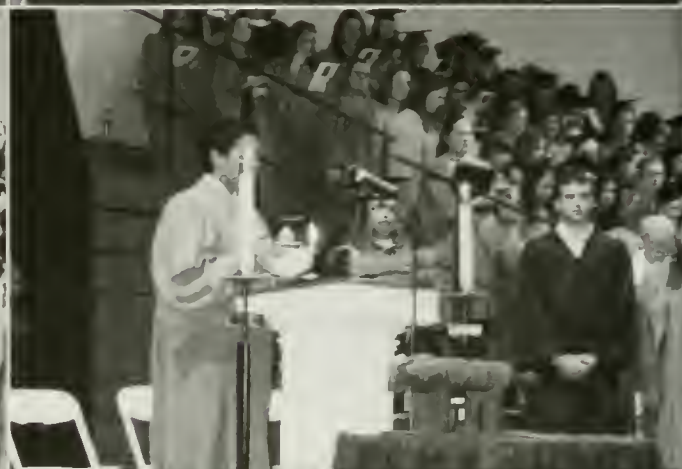

"I give to you this lamp as a symbol of the Light of Learning. Honor it, protect it, treasure it. Use it to benefit the lives of all people."

--Eileen Peluso, Chair of the Faculty--

"We receive this lamp as a symbol of the Light of Learning. I have grown, matured, and prospered in its glow. May those who follow grow strong in its light."

--Jessica Gough, President, Class of 2007--

"Although the winds of time may cause the flame to flicker, may the security of knowledge protect the flame."

--Amilecar Guzman, President, Class of 2008--

"Although the way may sometimes seem dark, may the quest for the unknown keep the light aflame."

--Joseph Falchek, President, Class of 2009--

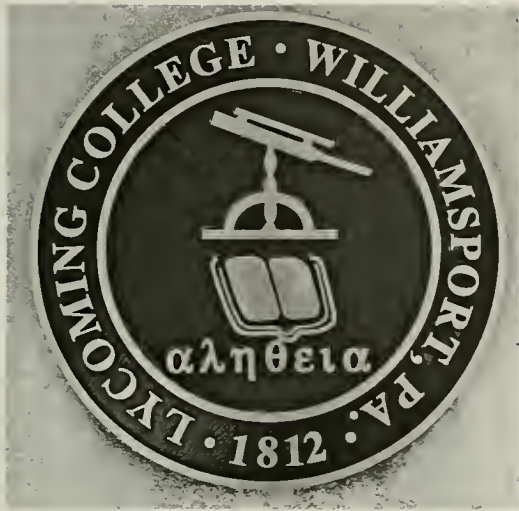

"Although this lamp often changes hands, may those who hear it never grow weary."

--Haley Cohen, Acting President, Class of 2010--

THE ALMA MATER

*We sing to Lycoming with clarion voice of praise,
The thunderbird speaks for the glory of yesterdays
The blue of honor, gold of valor, born of sky and sun.
We blaze a trail of light through our valley
Holding a torch of flame for our Alma Mater, Illustrious be her name.
With tribal devotion we pledge our consecration.*

*A Chieftain of old, standing sentinel in the sun.
Old Main guards the memory of battles lost and won,
Of our incantation, dedications, praising our warriors bold.
Abidingly true, old friendships and new find worth
In the bonds of Lycoming; long may her sachem
Proclaim her noble birth
With high exultation, we chant to her creation.*

THE COLLEGE MACE

The mace has an ancient history as a symbol of authority. In its current use by many colleges and universities, the mace is carried before the president in academic processions; and represents the authority of the institution.

ACADEMIC APPAREL

The gowns, caps and hoods that distinguish academic processions represent an ancient tradition. The origin of the distinctive gowns has been traced to the very beginnings of European universities in the 12th century. The mortarboard cap first came to use in 16th century England, and the legend has that it was patterned after the quadrangular shape of one of Oxford's campuses.

The cut of the academic gown, although not easily distinguishable, identifies the level of degree held by the wearer. The bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves and two pleats on either side. The master's gown has a long crescent-shaped sleeve. The doctoral gown is most distinguished by full-length velvet panels on the front and velvet bands on the sleeves. Some doctoral granting institutions have incorporated other specific design elements into their gown designs.

The colors on the hood can usually provide information about a scholar's discipline. The color of the velvet bands on each hood represents the discipline of the wearer and the lining of the hood usually contains the official colors of the school that awarded the degree.

The color for each academic field include: White for Arts, Letters and Humanities; Scarlet for Theology and Divinity; Drab for Business Administration, Commerce and Accounting; Copper for Economics; Light Blue for Education; Brown for Fine Arts; Lemon for Library Science; Green for Medicine; Silver Gray for Oratory; Dark Blue for Philosophy; Sage Green for Physical Education; Gold-Yellow for Science; Citron for Social Science and Pink for Music.

Senior Picnic

With so many in their class, the seniors couldn't cram at the tables. They expanded onto the grounds and the patio in front of Pennington Lounge.

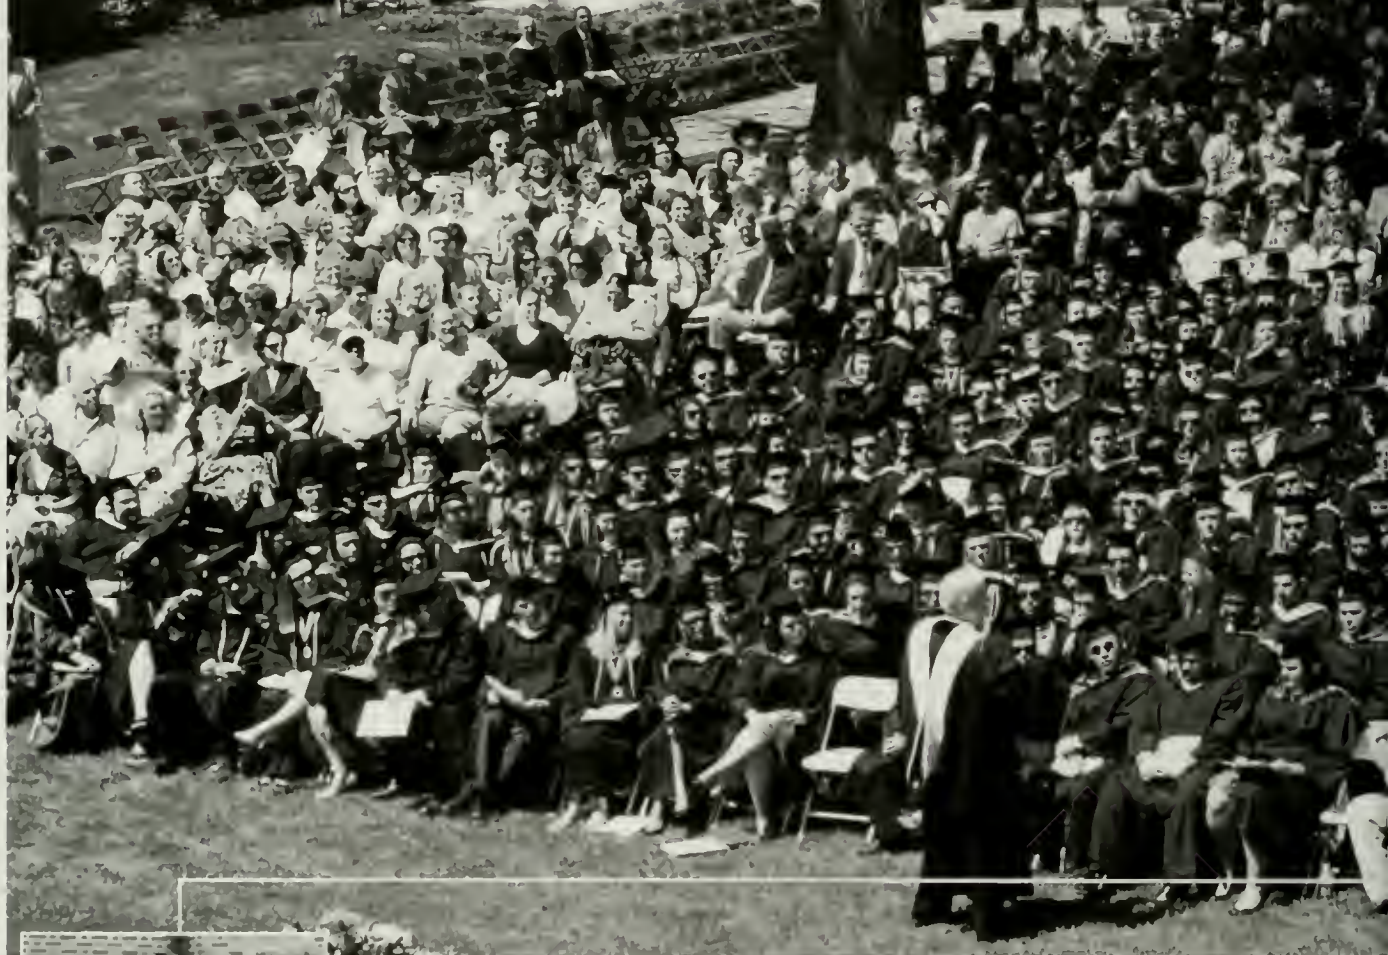

The seniors chatted the afternoon away reminiscing about the good times and contemplating what lay ahead of them as they stand on the threshold of becoming Alumni of Lycoming college rather than the student.

CLASS OF 2007

The 159th Annual Commencement Ceremony of Lycoming College's Class of 2007 was held on Sunday, May 6th, 2007. The Senior Marshals, Jessica Gough, Corinne Dochow, Amanda Scholwinski, and Christine McIntyre, opened the Oliver Sterling Meisler Gate and ushered their class into the ceremony. The 2007 Commencement Address was given by Dr. John Piper, Jr., Dean of the College. Dr. Piper told the Class of 2007 they were surrounded by dreams. He told them to first Dream It, then to Follow It. "Dreams," he said, "do not exist or persist without dreamers." Dr. Piper's second persona of Ben Greer even made his last appearance at Lycoming College. With his imminent retirement in mind, Dr. Piper was given a standing ovation by all.

2010

Time for the "Jingle Bell Rock"

As the event neared, the freshman tore their noses away from their books to "Rock
Around the Christmas Tree". Even old Saint Nick took a break from his workshop to spend some time with this year's newest Warriors.

Hand in Hand Volunteers

The Class of 2010 recorded over 1200 hours of community service through programs like Hand in Hand, Habitat for Humanity, Little League World Series, and the United Way Day of Caring.

The Men's Soccer team played one of the top schedules in the regions, facing matched opponents this season. Their most rewarding game was the 1-0 win against Elizabethtown. It was the first win against Elizabethtown in the school's history. Entering the game, they were 0-41-1 all-time. The Warriors were a young soccer team, having graduated nine players last year. On average, five to six freshman were able to start each game. Seniors Eric Stickel and Dan Jackson leave a stronger team behind as they graduate. Coach Scott Kennel says, "Both captained the team and were instrumental in our success over the past four years."

Going into the 2006-07 season there were many questions facing a young and inexperienced team. With a roster comprised of just three juniors and eleven freshmen and sophomores, together the squad grew up quickly. The team finished 13-12 and just missed the MAC Freedom Conference Playoffs. Coach Donald Friday says, "With the entire nucleus intact and the addition of some promising recruits there is much excitement for the 2007-08 basketball season."

THESE FELLOWS!

ALL THEY HEAR IS SWOOSH!

Fresh faces, along with last season's leading scorer, Andrea Cooper, put Lycoming Women's Basketball back on track. The team record was not indicative of the teams' performances. The season ended on a positive note, as they traveled to Delaware Valley College and won, ousting them from a playoff position.

Everyone returns to next year's squad, including Freedom League Rookie of the Year, Rebecca Leid. Talent and the experience gained from this season make the future look bright.

WARRIORS LEAVE ONLY A TRAIL OF BUBBLES

This year, the Men's Swimming Team was comprised of mostly freshman, making them a very young team. However, with all the swimmers stepping up to the challenge they still managed to have a great year. Things were shaky in the beginning for the Men's team. But, as soon as the guys got into their training, many improvements were made. The team's finish at MAC's were an unexpected and positive surprise. Most everyone had a great meet. Coach Jerry Hammaker says, "We'll miss our graduating seniors, but look forward to the future."

Swimmers Slice through Water on the Way to Victory

Coach Jerry Hammaker says, "We had a great season especially for being such a young team." With the women being mostly sophomores, any improvement in performance is a plus for these Lady Warriors. The first half of the season started out a bit rough. However, as everyone got into the training, good things started to happen for the team. They admit their finishes at MAC's were a bit unexpected, but on the positive side. Most everyone had a great meet. The team will miss their graduating seniors, but look forward to the future.

The Warriors Keep the Ball in the Net

This was a great transition year for the program with the entire coaching staff changing from last year. The team responded to the new system very well and was honored with three players being recognized on the MAC All-Conference team. JP Earp, Jim Cusick and Dan Cannon all received these honors and will return next year along with the largest recruiting class in program history. Special thanks and recognition to all five seniors who helped build the team's success during the past four years. Alex Tankeloff, Andrew Reckley, Matt Lando and captains Kyle Shearer and Tom Nairn.

The spring weather wasn't cooperative for the softball team this season. Facing the loss of several key players from last year's team, including a 4-time Pitcher of the Year, it was definitely time for rebuilding. Graduating seniors Betsy Reese, Katie Shaw, and Melissa McCoy provided leadership and guidance to a squad that will return strong in 2008!

When it comes to representing Lycoming, the Men's Cross Country team responded with excellence. This year, with an addition of new faces, the group saw their most successful turnout yet. On a personal level, many individuals improved in dropping times since last season.

But that's not all Coach Adrienne Wydra can be proud of. Cross Country members maintain a great team GPA, good health, as well as a distinctive attitude. Under the belief that each individual plays an important role in sharing the workload, the team feels a strong sense of unity. Also, everybody preserves a positive and encouraging mentality, reflecting well on the larger Lycoming College body. Coach Wydra's advice to seniors is "Keep moving forward!"

This year, with an addition of new faces, the Women's Cross Country team saw their most successful turnout yet. The ladies really stepped up to the challenge of bearing Lycoming's name at each event. On a more personal level, many individuals dropped their times since last season.

Coach Adrienne Wydra is the head of a team to be proud of. Cross Country members continually maintain a great team GPA, good health, and a "can-do" attitude. Each individual plays an important role in the overall team's performance, which makes each member feel a strong sense of unity. # Math + Friends * Opportunity = Association for Mathematically Interested Students

"All of the members of AMIS get along well and have fun together however we can still get stuff accomplished." -Laura Silks

Each year the members of the Association of Mathematically Interested Students (AMIS) host Math Awareness Day for the students from local middle schools. The students are invited to spend the day at Lycoming learning interesting math topics. The AMIS members teach four different classes on different topics within the same theme. This community service project also provides an excellent opportunity for math education majors to get some hands-on experience. AMIS also participated in many other campus events this year such as Homecoming, Dodge Hunger, Alpha Xi Delta's Kickball Tournament, and the Campus Carnival. Another traditional event for AMIS is the Monday night bowling at Faxon Lanes. This highly attended event is open to all students and allows AMIS show their faces and names over Lycoming's Campus. They also hold several pizza parties throughout the year to welcome students back to campus, to celebrate Christmas, and to wish the seniors good luck after college.

Arrow Yearbook

In the beginning of the year the Arrow Yearbook was off to a rough start. With the help of college administration members Larry Mannolini, Dean Daniel Miller, Donna Weaver, Andrew Kilpatrick, Laura Johnson, and Jean Wool the yearbook was brought back into full production. They were soon joined by freshman Sarah Zellars and Dr. Todd Preston to ensure the club and the book would continue into the future. Recruitments were made, assistance was sought, and with diligence and dedication the club was promised a future.

Lycoming's Arrow is a yearly production committed to preserving the memories of each year. With the help of Herif Jones and Davor Photography each year an excellent product is delivered to the students.

The club's new advisor Todd Preston (above) and recently appointed editor Sarah Zellars (above left) helped to shape the club and prepare the members for the upcoming years.

Association for Computing Machinery

The Association for Computing Machinery at Lycoming College is a group made for students, by the students. Right now, their main goals are raising awareness for the club, planning activities for the members such as educational trips as well as the occasional pizza parties to wind down, and of course gathering new members along the way! Everyone is always welcome to join the association!

At the helm of the organization are Dr Eileen Peluso and Dr. Geoffrey Knauth. They advise the Executive Board, Sean Waite (President), Dzung Tran (Vice President and Treasurer), Doug Brauning (Secretary) and Chris Kehres (Webmaster). The rest of the club is comprised of Pat Buchheit, Chris Dahlheimer, Justin Drew, and Brandan Mahoney. This past year the club has been active in competitions such as the ACM's Mid-Atlantic Regional and the Consortium for Computing Sciences in College Northeastern Region. They also presented "Alice© in Wonderspace" for Lycoming's Math Awareness Day.

The Black Student Union

is a diverse group of students from all across campus. Their mission is to bring diversity to the lives of Lycoming's students. They are one of the larger organizations on campus, with 49 active members this past year. They are very active on campus participating in numerous community service activities such as the Family Fued Tournament, Black Alumni Dinner, Gospel Fest, Service Auctions, Fire-side Chats, and they volunteered for the Ronald McDonald House. Many members say that BSU is more than an organization that you're in, they say it's more of an organization of close friends.

"K"ommunity Service

With the help of almost 25 active members, Circle K organizes and participates in service activities for the campus and for the Williamsport community. Under the leadership of Dr. Jeremy Ramsey, advisor, Amanda Herrick, president, Amanda Raymond, vice president, Brandon Goode, treasurer, Francesca Piscitelli, secretary, and Samantha Barnaik, editor, Circle K has organized a Bingo Night, Mile of Quarters Fundraiser and CAPPA.

Who's Running the Show?

Campus Activities Board, of course!

The Campus Activities Board plans most of the events that take place on campus and gives all students the opportunity to get involved in the planning, developing, and implementing stages of the process. They have a wide variety of programming which allows each student to find something that they really like. Advisor Larry Mannolini, President Jamie Rowe, Vice President Lindsey Smith, Secretary Christina Faust, and Treasurer Mallory McDonald helped to bring many programs to the campus this past year including the Taking Back

Sunday Concert, Little Siblings Weekend, Craig Karges the illusionist, Sarah Olsen, a hiking trip, Broadway trips to see both Phantom of the Opera and Avenue Q, as well as the campus movies which play every weekend. To Aaron Lay, the best part of being in CAB is getting to help run the programs that take place on campus. Students always know what's going on and are given the opportunity to help out. In general it's just a great way to stay involved on campus and participate in all of the campus' activities.

LE CLUB FRANCO

Under the leaderships of Dr. Amy Cartal-Falk (advisor), Nicholas Reed (president), Jordan Hollander (vice-president), Amy Richards (secretary), and Melissa King (treasurer) Club Franco works to promote French culture and learning on campus. Students who do not know French, but are curious to learn more about the culture, are welcome to join the club. The club's activities enable students to experience French culture first hand. For example, students played Boules, a popular French game, on campus to learn more about the culture. They also prepared and enjoyed a popular food on Crepe Night, and dined at Le Jeune Chef for a true French dining experience. For the students who know French, these activities enable them to enhance their conversational skills. According to Nicholas Reed, "Club Franco takes the best field trips!" This year the club experienced French Canada in Montreal for their field trip.

The mission of the Creative Arts Society is to serve as a meeting place for anyone having an interest in any part of the creative arts and to aid in the advancement of the creative arts at Lycoming College. Sarah deRosa says, "It's one place on campus where anyone can express their artistic side, which is very nice for people who are not art majors or minors". The society invites any and all students who have an interest in any form of the arts, whether it would be drawing, writing, or performance. Some activities the society sponsored this year include Snowden 'til 2 Anti-Stress events,

Kickball for Little Siblings' Weekend, Art Gallery, Masquerade Ball, and a Sidewalk Chalk fundraiser for AIDS Resource. Member Matt Wright says the best part about being a society member is "the freedom to be who you and express yourself how you see fit."

English Society

The mission of the Lycoming College English Society is to foster the love of literature and writing on campus and in the surrounding community. To do this the members of the Society hold readings for visiting writers as well as writers on Lycoming's very own campus. This past year they collected books for the charity Books Through Bars. Through the English Society, students on campus have an outlet to develop and hone their own writings by providing more interactions with writers on campus in the faculty and other students as well as writers in the community.

Jen Quinn, a senior English Creative Writing and History major, delivers her paper, "The Knight in Literature vs. History," at the Moravian College Conference for Undergraduate Research in the Middle Ages and Renaissance.

FLOAT TUTORING

FLOAT is a program run in coordination with Stevens Elementary School and Covenant Central Presbyterian Church. Students from Lycoming College tutor fourth grade children from the elementary school off campus at the church twice a week. Many times the children are underprivileged and look to the tutors as mentors as well. The program was advised by Marco Hunsberger and led under the wings of President Shauna Clay, Vice President Natalie Palm, Treasurer Nara Naranjit, and Secretary Lori Newton. As of May, the program will be known as SMART for the years to come.

FISH WITH FLYCO

Studying can quickly overwhelm even the most experienced students. So what does one do when it seems that open books and poor lighting begins to test sanity? The Lycoming Fly Fishing Club (Flyco) got away from the cramped dorm environment to the outside to take in fresh air and the relaxing sport of fly-fishing to unwind from their studies. Flyco was established not only to instruct others the principles of fly-fishing, but also to become active in the community by partaking in environmentally-based service projects, all the while providing a positive social atmosphere. One member described Flyco as 'A positive way to meet people with the same interests or to learn the sport of fly-fishing.' Dr. Williamson oversaw President Vreeland Wood, Vice President Neihl Williamson, Treasurer Stephan Deao, and Secretary Erika Niemann as they organized activities for the club's other nine members: Tim Caldwell, Blake Barth, Tyler Barth, Steve Bilous, Nate Davis, Cody Ensanian, Stewart Kirk, Travis Leonarczyk, and Tim Weigle. This past year, Flyco participated in the Relay for Life and set up at Accepted Students Day. They also attended a stream cleanup at Susquehanna State Park, ensuring that the environment would remain clean for years to come, ensuring the continuation of their relaxing activity.

DEUTSCHVEREIN

The Lycoming German Club (Deutschverein) boasts a large membership of forty-five members dedicated to embracing German culture and heritage. Instructed by Dr. Len Cagle, and led throughout the year by President Heather Weller, Vice Presidents Alexander Andrasik (in the Fall) and Melody Weister (in the Spring), Secretary Molly Boland, Treasurer Kirsten Darby, and Webmasters John Stark and Toni Kretschmar, Deutschverein has spread German culture throughout those interested in participating in their many events, such as hiking and German cooking nights. They've also organized excursions to nearby, German-influenced festivals, such as Oktoberfest and Christkindlemarkt in Mifflinburg.

Alexander Andrasik boasted "I can be studying French in France and still be a member of the Deutschverein." Another member, Molly Boland, exclaimed "The best part of German club is bringing our own culture to Lycoming College with some really friendly and awesome people!"

According to Stephanie Marra the best part of being part of this organization is "getting to make a difference in someone's life, who now, I look up to."

Lend a Helping

Lycoming College Habitat for Humanity has been active on campus for 15 years with the purpose of promoting poverty awareness and serving the community. As a campus organization, they are involved in activities such as Homecoming, Activity Fairs, Accepted Students Day, Little Siblings, and many more.

Each spring, Lycoming Habitat participates in the Collegiate Challenge Spring Break program where students travel to other states to help build houses. These student volunteers give up their spring break to help the less fortunate have decent, affordable housing.

Throughout the year Habitat has many fundraisers such as their annual 5K Fun Walk/Run. Other fundraisers include selling lemonade and cappuccino at football games, carpet sales during First Weekend, and writing Santa Letters during the holiday season.

Hand with Habitat

Lycoming College completed and dedicated their first Habitat house in December 2003. The house was built and funded by the college chapter and many generous donors.

Lycoming's Lowdown

The Lycourier is the primary source of campus news written by students for students at Lycoming College, though members of faculty are often their biggest fans. The main purpose of the publication is to inform the readers as accurately as possible on the news of concern to Lycoming College and its publics, which is anyone with an interest in the campus. Ashley Wislock said, "I like the Lycourier because it gives me the opportunity to express myself. I have the freedom to address issues that are important to me and I can make a difference through my writing."

Besides producing 14 issues of the college newspaper a year for the campus to enjoy, the Lycourier staff participated in Accepted Students Day and the Involvement Fair. Their schedules and the nature of the organization leave them with little time for other activities. Haley Cohen stated, "There is nothing better than someone who you don't know walking up to you and starting up a conversation based on what you wrote."

HISTORY BUFFS

The Lycoming College History Club exists for the express purpose of spreading the love and knowledge of all things historical. This year they sponsored many activities such as a Graduate School Dinner where members prepared a meal straight out of the middle ages and Dr. Chandler and Dr. Johnson dispensed advice on how to choose, apply to, and survive Graduate School. They provided painting services for the Cemetery Fence Painting project on Washington Boulevard. They created a timeline in February for Black History Month and another in March for Women's History Month which were both displayed in the library. Of course, they had their fun with the Ancient Foods Dinner as well as a Lord of the Rings Trivial Pursuit Competition.

Bringing Some Diversity

Lycoming's Multicultural Awareness Group

The members of MAG long to increase the acceptance of diversity at Lycoming. By sharing their own backgrounds, they bring cultural awareness to the college campus. Amilcar Guzman says he loves "meeting people from different cultures [it] has truly been a rewarding experience for [him]." This past year MAG sponsored an International Dinner, an outing to the Pineapple Grill, as well as donated their time to the Hand-in-Hand festival, Campus Carnival, and Hall Crawl.

“Poli Sci - It’s a blast!”

The purposes of the Lycoming College Political Science Club are to encourage student interest in the discipline of political science, to stimulate campus activities related to government and politics, to provide a forum for invited speakers and lecturers, and to assist the Department of Political Science by offering students an opportunity to engage in politically-related activities. Dr. Jonathan Williamson and Dr.

Michael Roskin help the club’s members to organize activities on campus like the speaker on “Why We Serve” and mediate all-campus forums such as the one held to discuss the candidates in the November elections. Other events held by the Political Science Club include USO Fundraising, volunteer work for the Lycoming College Polling Institute, and promoting voter registration on campus.

You no longer have to be over fifty to love to knit or crochet. The Raging Stitches Club has helped to renew their generation's love of all things created with woven cotton. They raise funds for local charities by selling their creations around the Lycoming campus. This past winter, they held their first annual "Formidable Beards of Lycoming College" calendar sale and raised over eight hundred dollars for charity. In the spring they held the "Unusually Long Scarf" contest.

ROLLER HOCKEY CLUB

The Lycoming Roller Hockey Club has really improved over the last few years. With help from seniors Rich Jasinski (Captain) and Jim Davidson (Assistant Captain) the student interest in the hockey team drastically increased which brought lots of new talent to the team. The hockey team won both the fall and spring championships and will look to continue their undefeated streak of 26 games for next year. Overall, the past year has been great for the Lycoming Roller Hockey Club with an increase in membership, a growing fan base, and not losing a single game all year.

The Roller Hockey Club's purpose is to develop sportsmanship and team skills and to allow students to participate in an athletic event that has not been previously offered at Lycoming College. According to members, the best part of the club is just being able to play hockey.

The Society of Physics Students is an outlet for those students who just can't get enough science in their lives. In this organization students hold discussions and investigations on science topics in the world today. Their weekly programs are open to the entire college, giving every student, regardless of their major, a chance to discover more about the sciences.

This year the Society held a poetry reading Under the Stars, a trip to the Very Small Away, and an excursion through Penn's Cave. Of course their noses were not always glued to books and telescope lenses. The Society sponsored a Halloween party in the fall and a cookout in the spring to let loose. # Taking It To The Ultimate Level

The game of Frisbee has taken on a new meaning for the members of this club. The game, once thought to be a relaxing pastime, has grown into a new persona called Ultimate Frisbee. The members of the Ultimate Frisbee Organization of Lycoming (UFOL) now participate in a fast-paced and competitive sport. Their purpose is to provide students the opportunity to play Frisbee, get some exercise, and have a great time with friends or meeting new ones.

This past year, under the leadership of Adam Hughes (Chancellor), Garrett Williams (Admiral), and Greg Lang (Treasurer) they participated in the Frisbee in the Dome competition, played scrimmages against Penn College and held an Ultimate Frisbee Casual. Patrick Hayes, one of the thirty plus members says, "The best part about UFOL is that it is so fun and so relaxed. There aren't any commitments or hassles; we just play Frisbee and love it."

Members of the Ultimate Frisbee Organization of Lycoming jump, duck, and dive to move their team forward, save a stranded teammate, or even to make the game winning catch.

LYCOMING COLLEGE

As the representative body of Lycoming College students, Student Senate addresses student issues and concerns through open forums and total student representation. The group functions in the best interest of the students to voice all student concerns to the Lycoming College community, to ensure student representation on faculty committees, and to fairly govern the management of student funds. The Student Senate is the final, legitimate, and representative voice of the students and is recognized by the administration as the official voice of the students. The class officers and executive board meet every Monday in the Conference Room, while All-College Town Meetings are held once a month in the Jane Schultz Room.

—TWO THOUSAND SEVEN ARROW—

There were 300 copies of the 2007 Arrow Yearbook printed and sold at $50 each. Cover accessories were sold for an additional cost. The theme, "Guiding Light," represented the presence of knowledge on campus in each individual and the willingness to share that knowledge with others. The editor of the 2007 yearbook was Sarah Zellars. Assisting her to rebuild the status of the yearbook were Donna Weaver, Larry Mannolini, Dean Daniel Miller, and Todd Preston, the 2007 yearbook advisor. Throughout the year the editor was assisted by Stephanie Marra, Jasmine Johnson, Samantha Barnaik, Amanda Striley, Katie Hoyle, Katie Shaw, Micheal Kellichner, Tiffany Medley, Allison Batties, Amanda Day, Andrea Santiago, and Jessica Bennett. Herff Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, published the yearbook. The yearbook representative and general assistant to Lycoming College was Dave Brown. The 176 pages, 14 in color, were printed on 80 pound Bordeaux paper using AHJ Opus Regular font for the main copy, AHJ Deanna Script for the senior names and AHJ Garamond for the advertisements. Davor Photographic Inc., Bensalem, Pennsylvania, took the senior portraits. Student photographers, student organizations, faculty and administrative staff submitted other photographs and copy. The yearbook staff created the 2007 yearbook using Adobe Pagemaker 7.0. "Friends and Family" advertisements were solicited to offset the cost of the yearbook. Lycoming College and the Student Senate financially support the production of the yearbook. A special thank you goes to the Kevin and Wendy for their support and motivation, to Donna Weaver for her everlasting patience and assistance, to Larry Mannolini for his unwavering support, to Dave Brown for his guidance and to Todd Preston for saying yes.
